

International Conference 2023

International Research Conference in hybrid format was organized on Saturday, 25th March 2023 on the topic “Ethical and Environmental of Responsibility of Businesses”.

We chose this topic for our Research Conference because ethics and environmental sustainability are need of the hour in today’s world. Businesses must minimise hazardous operations as the environmental sustainability cannot be taken for granted. In fact, environmental ethics are most pivotal today. Similarly, financial, marketing, and human resource ethics are equally significant.

We received encouraging response from researchers from nationally and internationally. And, we got thought-provoking perceptions on the topic of environmental sustainability and business ethics.
